The Library of Congress is the largest library in the world, with millions of books, recordings, photographs, newspapers, maps and manuscripts in its collections. The Library is the main research arm of the U.S. Congress and the home of the U.S. Copyright Office. The Library preserves and provides access to a rich, diverse, and enduring source of knowledge to inform, inspire and engage you in your intellectual and creative endeavors.

Conducted by the Federal Research Division, a division that is familiar with both the research resources and operational aspects of the Library. This tour is tailored to researchers and librarians and will include an insider's view to some of its unique materials and rarely seen collections. It will offer an overview of the entire Library's divisions multilingual resources in 450 languages and a sampling of the regional reading rooms.

In addition to the tour, all attendees will acquire reader cards. Please bring a state ID (must include an address). Pre-register online (<https://www.loc.gov/readerreg/remote/>) or register the day of your visit.

The tour may include the following, based on time and group preference:
